

ED+C Magazine Announces 2009 EID Award Winners

Posted: June 3, 2009

Troy, Mich. — Environmental Design + Construction (ED+C) magazine announced the winners of its annual Excellence in Design (EID) Awards competition. ED+C's Seventh Annual EID Awards recognize commercial, government, institutional and educational projects as well as single-family residences that demonstrate a clear commitment to green building and sustainable design. Projects exhibited a variety of environmental building criteria as determined by a panel of judges.

Winners of the competition, as well as finalists and honorable mentions, will be featured in upcoming issues of ED+C magazine by category starting with the June 2009 issue (see below). This year's winners, finalists and honorable mentions include:

Photography
Copyright 2009
Wayne Cable.

COMMERCIAL category, featured in June 2009.

WINNER: Springbrook Prairie Pavilion, submitted by Bond Companies.

FINALISTS:

- FFKR Architects, Daybreak Corporate Center
- Todd Jersey Architecture, Gaia Anderson Hotel
- Hensel Phelps Construction Co., Hensel Phelps Southeast District Office Building

HONORABLE MENTIONS: fxfowle architects, National Audubon Society; (fer) studio, The Green Building; Stantec Architecture Ltd, Stantec Wellington Office; Tsoi Kobus & Associates, Center for Life Science Boston; and tvsdesign, tvsdesign Office Renovation - Chicago.

Arizona State

EDUCATIONAL category, to be featured in September 2009.

*University Global Institute of Sustainability.
Photo copyright
2008 Mark
Boisclair.*

WINNER: Arizona State University Global Institute of Sustainability, submitted by Lord, Aeck & Sargent and Gould Evans Associates.

FINALISTS:

- Centerbrook Architects, Lewis Walpole Library, Yale University
- Zimmer Gunsul Frasca Architects LLP, Reed College Student Housing
- Clayco, Danforth University Center at Washington University
- Street Dixon Rick Architecture, PLC, The Commons, Vanderbilt University
- Tsoi Kobus & Associates, The William H. and Elizabeth Gray Danforth University Center
- Solomon Cordwell Buenz, Richard J. Klarchek Information Commons

HONORABLE MENTIONS: Zimmer Gunsul Frasca Architects LLP, Stuart Hall and James Hall, Dickinson College; and Centerbrook Architects, Floren Varsity House and Memorial Stadium Renovation, Dartmouth College.

Colfax Ave. S. Renovation, Photo by Troy Thies Photography.

SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL category, to be featured in November 2009.

WINNER: Colfax Ave. S. Renovation, Minneapolis, submitted by Open Air Concepts.

FINALISTS:

- A Kitchen That Works, McCabe-Pardy Residence
- Arkin Tilt Architects, Sonoma Coast Residence
- Arkin Tilt Architects, Mt. Veeder Residence at Camalie Vineyards
- New Energy Works of Rochester, Inc., Kurland House

INSTITUTIONAL category, to be featured in July 2009.

WINNER: The Bridge Homeless Assistance Center, submitted by Overland Partners Architects in collaboration with CamargoCopeland Architects, LLP

The Bridge Homeless Assistance Center, Photo by Charles Davis Smith, AIA (www.csphoto.net).

FINALISTS:

- fxfowle architects, The Lion House at the Bronx Zoo
- Baskervill, Community Kitchen

Cambridge City Hall, Photo by Tom Arban.

GOVERNMENT category, to be featured in November 2009.

WINNER: Cambridge City Hall, submitted by Diamond and Schmitt Architects.

FINALISTS:

- Siegel & Strain Architects, Portola Valley Town Center
 - Hensel Phelps Construction Co., 1st Brigade Combat Team (BCT) Brigade and Battalion Headquarters Facility
- HONORABLE MENTIONS:
KAI Design & Build, Southeast Community Center; and Siegel & Strain Architects, Orinda City Hall.

Visit www.EDCmag.com for more information.